FORMER UMATILLA COUNTY
MAN AT EAGLE POINT.

Finds a Congenial Climate, With Productive Country, Plenty of Timber and Good Opportunities—Railroad Expected to Open Up Large Section of Southern Oregon This Year—Pendleton Blacksmiths Also Locate at Eagle Point.

The East Oregonian is in receipt of the following interesting letter from L. H. Lee, who is now located at Eagle Point in the sawmill business.

Mr. Lee was formerly school superintendent of Umatilla county, and left here two months ago, looking for a location:

Eagle Point, Ore., May 9.—(Editor East Oregonian)—Since my last communication I have invested in a sawmill and planer a few miles from this place, and within two and a half miles of the route of the Medford & Crater Lake railroad. We have about 5,000,000 feet of good timber, fir, pine and cedar, convenient to the mill, which will keep us busy for at least two years or more.

Eagle Point is quite a small village, located in the eastern part of the Rogue River valley, on Little Butte, a stream about like the Umatilla at Pendleton. The nearest point on the Southern Pacific to us is Central-point, 10 miles west, and the country between here and there is mostly prairie, but a good deal of it is very thin and not of much value without water.

A company is now putting in a ditch which is expected to cover all of this land. The M. & C. L. railroad passes directly through this so-called desert and when they once get plenty of water on it the land will be valuable. We expect the railroad to reach this place some time in July.

The hills here are covered with scraggy oak, both white oak and black, madrono and a kind of brush that looks much like greasewood, and I see large numbers of hogs in the hills everywhere, and I am told they do fine on the mast and wild feed.

Corn does well and I see people feeding it not only to their hogs, but to horses and other stock. This is not much of a wheat country, though it does better here than in the Willamette.

There are large numbers of cattle, hogs and horses raised here, but very few sheep. It is brushy on the range and the wolves are plentiful and hungry.

Of course, every one raises fruit, but in this locality it is mostly apples. Small fruit does not do very well without irrigation. Land is high and going higher all the time. I am pleased with the climate thus far—warm days with cool nights and mornings.

This is a wonderful country for flowers, especially roses; every yard has been full of all kinds of roses for a month.

Two brothers of Jack Childreth of Pendleton, were here a few days ago, and are coming in to run a blacksmith and wagon shop. If any of the friends up there think of coming down here, I shall be pleased at any time to give them all the information in my reach.

FORTUNE IN HAND.

Idaho Man Sells Homestead for $7000 After Seven Years' Work.

Cyrus W. Leasure and Della H. Leasure have sold their fine 160-acre farm, located about six miles east of Nez Perce, to Thomas Haley for $7,000, says the Capital News.

The transfer shows the remarkable advance in the price of agricultural land in the vicinity of Lewiston. Several years ago at the time the Nez Perce Indian reservation was allotted and thrown open for settlement, Mr. Leasure and his wife came down from Moscow and went in with the rush. They acquired this 160 acres in section 20, township 34, range 2 east, by homestead entry and have since then proved up on it.

Land in this vicinity produces about an average of 20 bushels of grain to the acre, so that during the seven years he has owned this land, Mr. Leasure has made thousands of dollars out of his crops. He now receives $7000 for the farm or at the rate of $44 an acre. One acre has more than paid all his cost of filing and proving up his homestead.

Minister for Irrigon.

The minister who will have charge of the new Presbyterian church at Irrigon is Dr. E. T. Allen, who has been assistant to Dr. E. P. Hill, of First Presbyterian church of Portland for the past three years. Dr. Allen will take charge of the church on June 1. He is considered to be one of the strongest men in the ministry in Oregon.

May Organize Church at Echo.

Rev. W. S. Holt, synodical missionary for the Presbyterian church for Oregon, is in Echo today looking over the ground with a view to organizing a congregation there to be served by the minister who will be stationed at Irrigon. If a sufficient number of members are found there, steps will be taken to organize in the near future.

GUERRILLAS BURIED GOLD.

Colorado People Search for Quantrell's Treasure.

A reputed treasure of gold dust and United States greenbacks buried in the mountains just off the old South Park stage line, again is luring searchers into the hills, says the Denver Post. A dispatch from Bailey's, on the South Park line, says that two strangers have arrived at that place to hunt for the booty of stage robbers, hidden thereabouts 40 years ago.

In 1864 James Reynolds, a Confederate captain became leader of a guerrilla band similar to Quantrell's. The gang held up and robbed what was called the "Buckskin coach" on the old South Park trail, and secured over $40,000.

The gang was attacked the next day, one man killed, Captain Reynolds and John Reynolds and one other escaped southward.
